

Join a FpML Working Group

1. Join a FpML Working Group

When the Standards Committee decides to form a new working group, based on the interest expressed through various channels and the availability of an initial proposal, a call for participation in an FpML Working Group will be issued to allow interested parties from various industries to participate in this working group. To Join a Working Group fill out the Call for Participation Form (./lists/?p=subscribe&id=1) . For more information, see the respective working groups and the press section.

2. Propose a New Group

FpML® monitors interest in asset classes, functionality and non-product topics through various channels. An important source of information is the Call for Interest Form (./lists/?p=subscribe&id=5) , where we ask you to indicate your interest in future developments of the FpML standard. The standards committee regularly reviews the results of the call for interest and will suggest a new group whenever appropriate. The roadmap (./roadmap/roadmap.pdf) can be used to set the content of future work in relation to current work and achievements.
